PA NEWC OBSERVES

A very odd sight presented itself recently when a member of the bary squad was seen on the roof of the building sweeping the snow that had accumulated there to the ground. When asked the reason for his procedure it was learned that the water would leak through onto the book shelves if the snow was allowed to remain there.

Residents of the outer edge of the city on the North Hill had an interesting performance by a large squirrel when New Year's day. The squirrel gave a demonstration of light rope walking over an area of several blocks, using the telephone cable along the street for the performance.

After snow had fallen sometime each day for sixteen successive days during December, and half the preceding fifteen, New Year's Day was unique in that it was bright and clear.

The sub-zero temperature shown in the weather figures for New Year's Day came from the preceding day when the thermometers were set at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, the temperature stood 5 below zero.

New Castle's downtown holiday trim was removed today. A corps of workmen hastily dismantled a mass of wires and colored lights high spread Christmas cheer in the business district during the yuletide.

Motorists on Mt. Jackson way reported this morning that not many of them kept going straight ahead driving in that direction, after the freeze on top of the light rain very slippery, many cars turning completely around.

Traffic Conditions Worst Of Winter

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 2.—Blanketed in a dense smog that limited visibility so much that motorists kept their headlights on hours after dawn, Western Pennsylvania today suffered the worst traffic conditions of the winter.

A freezing rain formed solid sheets of ice on streets and highways, flinging windshields and headlights, and sending the unwary motorist skidding around corners and endangering many lives.

It was doubtful that any airplane flights would be made today. The airport weather bureau reported visibility of one mile at that point, and that there was danger of ice weighing wings and fuselage of ships.

Bus companies reported highways to the west "a glare of ice." To make matters worse, rising temperatures were expected to halt formation of ice and lay a film of warm rain atop the highways which will cause a heavy slush. Rain was predicted throughout the day.

The murky, warm weather broke a two-week cold wave. Rain and melting snow were expected to start a sharp rise in the river resulting in possible ice jams.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Congress will "refuse to pull the chestnuts out of the fire" for Great Britain and France on the question of sanctions against Italy, Chairman Sam D. McReynolds (D) of Tennessee, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said today.

McReynolds' statements, made in an interview, were inspired by the recent speech of Premier Laval of France, indicating that the League of Nations expects the American congress to pass neutrality legislation which will back an oil embargo.

To introduce Bill
He will introduce the administration's new neutrality bill tomorrow. The measure is expected to require the president to impose an embargo on shipment of munitions to warring nations but to give him discretion to add commodities, such as cotton and oil.

"I would bitterly oppose placing in the bill names of any commodities on which an automatic embargo should apply," said McReynolds. "That, in my opinion, would be an instance of passing a bill to put us into war instead of keeping us out."

Ignore Compromise
Washington, Jan. 2.—Congressional sponsors of rigid neutrality legislation today ignored an administration compromise proposal offered at a conference between President Roosevelt and Democratic leaders.

PILOT IS ONLY
KNOWN SURVIVOR

(International News Service)
ALEXANDRIA, Jan. 2.—Police hoped today to obtain some explanation from Pilot V. G. Wilson, the sole survivor, for the strange accident that plunged nine passengers and three crewmen to their deaths in an Imperial Airways plane within a couple of minutes' flying distance from Alexandria.

Wilson is still in a Cairo hospital. When he was picked up by the destroyer Brilliant after seven hours in the water, all he could say was "I was thrown out of the cabin like a bullet."

Gasoline Trouble
Col. Hen Bey, commandant of the Alexandria city police, said the plane, City of Khartum, apparently had gasoline trouble as the flight from Crete neared the end. It radioed an SOS to the Alexandria base, he said, "then suddenly went into a nosedive and turned over when it hit the water." Apparently all three motors stopped at once. Trawlers are still seeking the wreckage.

James C. Luke, 57, of Philadelphia, an oil engineer and naturalized American, 10 Britons, two of whom were women, and one Italian, a Fascist officer, were the victims.

Southern England Is Badly Flooded

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 2.—Scores of villages were isolated today as prolonged rains caused the worst floods in living memory throughout wide areas in southern England.

Dozens of rivers have overflowed their banks, making roads impassable, damaging crops, and imperiling livestock.

The Thames river has inundated thousands of acres in its upper reaches, including the grounds of King George's Windsor castle. The royal family, however, is not now in residence there.

In central London a police watch has been established over the Thames, which has already nearly reached the top of the embankment.

Lively Welcome Given Little 1936 In City

Little 1936 had a real welcoming committee when he arrived Wednesday morning. There couldn't have been many folks in bed for the streets seemed to have more cars on them, more homes seemed to be lighted, more people seemed to be at the church watch night services, and more many makers seemed to be in the hot spots than there has been for many years.

Maybe it was the weather. Cold but not too cold, with the streets safe for driving. From midnight to 12:30 a. m. down town looked like a bargain day. All of the theatres did a big business, all the restaurants were doing well and a lot of frolickers preferred to welcome the new year out in the open.

From the mills and factories the whistles sounded a lusty welcome, here and there bells rang and a few overzealous welcomers popped off some guns to convince 1936 that he was really welcome.

Police reported few cases of law violation. It was just a night for celebrating, a night to welcome in a new year and the boys and girls just did that.

What though there were some large heads the next morning? Welcoming committees always had to expect some sacrifices, and the penalties in this case were morning after hangovers.

Some Criticism Of President's Move To Broadcast Message

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Administration leaders chuckled today over Republican irritation at President Roosevelt's coup in arranging to deliver his annual message to congress tomorrow night when the radio audience is at its greatest.

Democratic officials were fully aware that the president's action in calling for a night session would be attacked afterward—but they were content in the knowledge that Mr. Roosevelt would have a greater audience tomorrow night for his report on the state of the nation than any president before him ever enjoyed by many thousands.

See Interest Being Stirred.
In fact, the president's advisers were welcoming the advance criticism of the opposition on the elemental ground it served only to stir up interest in what the chief executive will have to say tomorrow evening when he faces congress.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, an outstanding candidate for the Republican nomination against Mr. Roosevelt next fall, smilingly offered "no objection and no criticism," but Rep. Hamilton Fish (R) of New York, who has projected himself as unofficial campaign manager for Borah, indignantly announced he

Four From Court Of Pardons Will Visit Hauptmann

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Four members of the New Jersey court of pardons will visit Bruno Richard Hauptmann in his cell in the New Jersey state prison death house at Trenton today or tomorrow, the Evening Journal declares in an exclusive story.

The visit of the court members, it is said, will be for the purpose of determining whether Hauptmann is prepared to make a complete confession of his part in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and murder.

The Journal adds that it has learned from an aide of Governor Harold Hoffman that although Attorney General David T. Wilentz will fight any defense move for mercy he will not object to life imprisonment for Hauptmann in exchange for a confession.

Unless Hauptmann makes a complete confession that will stand the closest scrutiny, the newspaper says it has learned, no mercy will be shown him and he will die in the electric chair as scheduled the week of January 13.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Fresh from a four-month vacation, members of the Seventy-fourth Congress gathered here today to reconvene at noon tomorrow in a session certain to develop definite issues for the 1936 presidential election.

Two major issues—national economy and constitutionalism—were raised by returning legislators even before Congress assembled. On every side, there appeared determination to reduce the terrific expenditures, which won for the seventy-fourth the dubious title of "spendthrift congress" at its first session last year.

Fear Court Action
The seventy-fourth also approached its duties with trepidation over what the supreme court may do to the Roosevelt recovery program previously enacted. A half dozen laws, "keystones" in the Roosevelt program, were under attack before that august tribunal as violative of the constitution. Before this session is many weeks old, supreme court rulings may throw out a mass of laws as unconstitutional and give Congress additional legislative problems.

Partisan feeling developed on the eve of the session over the president's decision to turn his annual message on "the state of the union" into a radio "fireside chat" with the people of the nation. His plan to address a joint session of house and senate tomorrow night in order to get a wider radio reception, provoked sharp criticism from Republicans.

Three Leap Year Babies Are Born In Hospital Here

Stork Visits Mr. And Mrs. Victor Trushel Soon After New Year Is Ushered In

Scarcely had 1936 been ushered in Wednesday morning, and the sound of the guns, horns, bells, and whistles died away, until the stork was hovering over New Castle, bringing with him some New Year babies for New Castle families.

The first of these arrived to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Trushel, of 325 Taylor street, a son, at the New Castle hospital, born at 2:55 o'clock, probably the first for the entire county.

At 6:45 Wednesday morning, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Foster, of 301 Harding avenue, at the Jameson Memorial hospital; and a few hours later, 9 o'clock to be exact, a daughter, Kathleen Lenore, arrived at the Jameson Memorial hospital for Mr. and Mrs. A. Arthur Patterson, of 215 East Lincoln avenue.

Needless to say, there was happiness in at least three families in the city, which did not need to be wished upon them.

Here's a brand new year with a brand new chance to accomplish some brand new things, and finish the ones that we passed last year. It's a chance that a new year brings. A little more pep in our daily tasks, a little more hope and cheer, and a little more effort to help some one to banish his doubting and fear. A few more smiles and some kindly words, and the world will be better and gay, it's a chance for us all as the year begins, its warm, thirty-seven today.

RESUME STARS' DEATH PROBE

Perjury Ghost Stalks Over Case

Grand Jurymen Believe Some Of Witnesses In Todd Case Not Telling Truth

END OF INQUIRY IS NOT IN SIGHT

(International News Service) HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 2.—The grim ghost of perjury stalked the nation's film capital today as Los Angeles county officials opened the eleventh day of their investigation into the mystery death of Thelma Todd, glamorous blonde screen star.

The grand jury has announced itself convinced some witnesses in the bizarre case have not told the truth. As the investigation reopened today after the New Year recess, jurymen vowed to comb the records in search of discrepancies in testimony.

More To Testify At the same time they admitted no end of the investigation was in sight. They had under subpoena today many of Hollywood's famous and obscure, some for new and some for further examination.

Only one conclusion have jurymen drawn so far since the star's body, clad in a shimmering blue evening gown and bleeding at the mouth was found dead behind closed garage doors December 16. That is that Miss Todd did not meet her death by accident.

Of the only two remaining possibilities—suicide or foul play—it is thought a majority of the jurymen lean toward a fiendish "murder by monoxide" theory. George Rochester, foreman of the jury, admitted nothing had been found in Miss Todd's romantic or financial affairs which could lead them to believe she would want to take her own life.

Concentrating on this point, jurymen today planned to study, detail by detail, events in the past life of the gay actress to see if some still hidden circumstance may point to a suicide solution.

burned to death early today. The mother and an infant son escaped alive, but received serious burns and were rushed to a hospital where attendants said their condition is critical.

The dead: Milo K. Miller, 28, a federal Reserve Bank guard and his daughters, June 6 and Shirley 8.

Mrs. Miller and their son Dennis, 2½, are the hospital patients.

The fire started when Miller poured kerosene on live embers to start a fire in first floor heater. Flames spurted from the stove, and the room was a blaze almost immediately. Miller awakened his wife, asleep with the infant son in a first floor bedroom, and carried them to safety. He lost his life when he re-entered the blazing wooden structure to save the lives of his daughters. After firemen subdued the flames they entered the house and found the body of Miller in a kneeling position beside the bed, one arm across the bodies of his daughters.

admit, brought real cheer to them. Cheer in the form of tinkling cash registers. The weather, playing a major role, caused a flood of demands for anti-freeze solutions, chains, heaters and other things—and the flood hasn't subsided entirely yet. Accessory dealers will remember it as an ideal Christmas season.

Then, one couldn't overlook the restaurants and night spots about New Castle when talking about heavy business—the New Year's eve trade, most everywhere, was a record-breaker. One restaurant added, "Gosh! We didn't know where we were at most of the time. It was a real rush."

Machines which were out on the road this morning without chains had difficulty in keeping the road. Many reports were received by Pa. Newscasters skidding into the ditch on the icy highways. Two Killed In Newark.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 2.—Motorists and pedestrians throughout western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio were endangered today by the worst traffic conditions this winter which left the highways sheathed in ice under a dense snow.

A mother and child were killed at Newark, O., when their automobile skidded into a truck. The dead were Mrs. Helen Louise Baker, 27, and her 16-month-old daughter, Barbara Lee. D. E. Baker, the husband, who was driving, escaped with minor injuries.

Rain falling on the frosted streets formed a sheet of ice on highways and sidewalks. Automobile windshield wipers and headlights were also filmed with ice.

A score of school children were saved from death or injury near Charleroi when the driver of a school bus ditched his vehicle rather than descend ice-covered "Cemetery Hill" near Monongahela.

Rejects Compromise

Nye flatly rejected the compromise under which the president would be willing to accept mandatory power insofar as imposing embargoes on munitions shipments to both sides of a foreign conflict but over what other articles should be considered as contraband.

"In the light of our experience during the years preceding our entry into the World War I shall oppose any discretionary powers," Nye said.

The Nye-Maverick bill, in its present draft, calls for fixed wartime export quotas on goods other than munitions. The president would be prohibited from changing these quotas. Shipment of arms is forbidden to all belligerents.

home owned by Aubrey Morgan, brother-in-law of Mrs. Lindbergh, at St. Bride's Super Ely, near Cardiff, Wales. A report published in the London Daily Telegraph said they expected to leave England in a few days to make their home near Cartagena, Spain.

As the Lindberghs were spending their third day in the hotel, little Jon was seen restlessly pressing his face against a windowpane of the suite, although he could see little because of the thick Liverpool fog mantling the streets.

For "Peace and Rest"

British newspapermen tried to interview Col. Lindbergh, who refused to deny he had taken his family from the United States because of the crime situation. Robert Gregory, London banker helping the Lindberghs arrange their affairs, would say only that Col. Lindbergh was in England for "peace and rest". Col. Lindbergh declined to talk.

So the Lindberghs were left to the privacy they are supposed to have been denied in the United States. Neither other guests of the hotel, the servants, the British public nor the British press appeared particularly interested in the family today. As a result, precautions the Lindberghs were taking to guard it were needless. Since their arrival nobody except their waiter, their chambermaid and an elevator attendant have seen the Lindberghs face to face. The waiter must knock a certain number of times before he is permitted to enter their suite, and a detective was assigned to cover their floor.

sons, as a means of financing the government.

See Early Showdown As the tax plan was being discussed other conferences were underway which presaged an early showdown on the $2,000,000,000 bonus issue. They included:

1. Rep. Vinson (D) of Kentucky, will introduce the so-called "American Legion" bill tomorrow calling for cash payment without inflation.

2. House steering committee in charge of "inflation" bill of Rep. Patman (D) of Texas, met to discuss compromise proposals.

3. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, was to confer with senate backers of a compromise bill for payment of the bonus partly in bonds.

4. Rep. Patman offered to change the "new money" provisions of his bill to provide for issuance of money backed by gold now in the treasury.

Introduce Bill Tomorrow

"I shall introduce a bill tomorrow and may have it in shape today," said Rep. Vinson. "It will be a bill which I hope everybody will accept."

Vinson planned to attempt to shove through the estimate of $2,000,000,000 added cost for cash payment of the bonus is too high. He believes that sinking fund payments made in the past will reduce the cost hundreds of millions.

The Patman forces may offer as a compromise a bill which leaves the method of payment, whether by "greenbacks" or a bond issue, up to President Roosevelt.

"We could safely issue money backed by gold in the treasury," said Patman. "We have over ten billions of gold. We could pay the bonus and have billions left."

Both the Vinson and Patman forces apparently were preparing to resist a proposal by Speaker Byrnes to have the bonus bill originate in the senate. Senator Byrnes (D) of South Carolina, is under pledge to present a bill in the first 10 days.

WINTER SHOULD BRING CARE

THE old-timers who shout about "the old-fashioned winters" don't have much to talk about these days. The snow covering the ground and the ice covering the rivers are typical characteristics of those "old-fashioned winters" that old-timers have been talking about since time began.

Such a winter as this makes for enjoyment of young and old, but it also may bring tragedy. Care should be exercised in every activity. Autoists should be more than ordinarily careful because of the slippery roads, and they should be on the alert constantly for sled-riders. Coincidentally, parents should warn their children about the perils of sledding.

People who use gas stoves should watch for fumes. Monoxide poisoning is one of the most effective means of sudden death. Pedestrians, motorists and fun-seekers all should think twice before entering into winter activities and remember at all times the danger that lies beneath the snow and ice.

OLSON NEARS HIS GOAL

Temporarily, Elmer A. Benson, state banking commissioner of Minnesota, will fill the place in the United States senate made vacant by the death of Senator Schall. Governor Olson will be a candidate next November and, on the basis of his present political strength, may be elected.

The presence of Olson in the senate would give to that august body a more decided tinge of radicalism than it has possessed in our own times. He would cast his lot with the liberal element consisting of Norris, Nye, La Follette, Shipstead and others, but his political ideals are even more extreme than those supported by the left wing of the upper house.

MYSTERY OF HAPPY MARRIAGE

Examining into the reasons for wrecked marriages has always been a pet theme for sociologists. All kinds of laboratory tests have been applied to matrimony by these willing workers in an effort to find some hard and fast rules that might guarantee marital permanency.

The results, it must be confessed, have been none too satisfactory. A recent survey conducted by college professors among Illinois couples wedded six years or less brought forth the epochal disclosure that only daughters and only sons seemed poorer marriage risks than those from large families. Just why this should be so has not been explained any more than the theory of another "expert" that any girl who can run 100 yards in thirteen seconds or better should prove a good mate, or that other moth-eaten chestnut that college girls make the best (or the worst) wives.

The solution of the mystery of happy marriage, apparently, goes far beyond such trivia.

WHERE WILL THE MONEY COME FROM?

When congress meets next month it will be asked to enact permanent neutrality legislation designed to keep us out of foreign wars. If Americans run true to form there will be proposals galore, each one, in the opinion of its sponsors, being the ideal plan to attain what is desired by practically every citizen of the United States. One of these plans will be sponsored by thirty national peace organizations allied as the National Peace Conference. This group has prepared a model neutrality act to replace the legislation enacted during the last session of congress and which expires February 29.

The "model" is very similar to the 1935 act, but contains one proposal that probably will cause a great deal of controversy if it is seriously considered. It provides that losses suffered by American citizens because of embargoes, with the exception of arms, "be borne by the people of the United States, as a part of the cost of avoiding the involvement of the United States in war."

A natural consequence of an embargo, regardless of the reason for its declaration, is that somebody loses trade. It is maintained in many quarters that if the possibility of financial gain were to be removed from warfare there would be very few armed conflicts. That may be accurate, but it is a question whether the American people as a whole would approve of any plan, though it had some advantages, which would place upon them the responsibility of compensating individuals who lost money by reason of embargoes. And where would the money for this purpose come from? More taxes?

McGUFFEY READERS

If the centennial of an event is to receive proper attention it must be well discussed ahead of time, and pleasant anticipation developed, as well as adequate preparation made. One of the noteworthy events of American history was the introduction of the McGuffey reader.

It was in 1836 that the matchless McGuffey readers were given to the school children of the then Midwest. The growth of their use was rapid, and in a few years the extent of their influence was from the Appalachians to the Mississippi. Permeation of the Southern States was but a matter of time.

There were at first four small books. These underwent five revisions. In 1841, 1843, 1844, 1879 and 1901. None of the revisions included any revolutionary change, and all were true to the principle that at the heart of life is literature, and at the heart of literature is the Bible.

Countless thousands or more mature folk today owe their appreciation of the best literature, and more important, their conviction that life revolves around the struggles of consecrated people to follow the highest light there is, to the hours they spent in youth poring over the pages of McGuffey readers, in the little red school house which served its day and age so well.

In largely discarding McGuffey readers along with the admittedly obsolete little red school house modern educators have been false to a strong phrase from the pen of Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, D. D., "abiding truth in changing categories." Knowledge today is divided into different divisions for discussions, and boasts altered physical equipment, but a grievous blunder was made when the abiding truths of the old McGuffey readers were classed as out of style.

In the language of General Hugh S. Johnson, by dispensing with the great textbooks of William Holmes McGuffey along with the little red school house and the use of slates for writing, modern educators have "thrown out the baby with the bath." It was a serious lack of discrimination.

Regardless of how many invitations to the white house Al Smith has rejected, it is doubtful if he will be invited again.

Announcement by a Southern congressman that he will introduce a bill to bar straw votes from the mails conforms the prevalent suspicion that men of that type have been elected to congress.

Wilson For Earlier War?
Prayer Plus Planes.

New Disease Danger.

A Hotel In 60 Days.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Prof. A. M. Arnett of North Carolina university, says it was not Wilson that kept this country out of war for a while, but the country that kept WILSON out of war longer than he would have stayed out.

Prof. Arnett says he will prove, in a book, that Wilson wanted war in 1916 and was kept out of it by three men, Champ Clark, Congressman Flood and Claude Kitchin, Democratic floor leader of the House.

HOW DEEP should we have sunk in our depression if Woodrow Wilson had carried out his alleged plan and started the war one year ahead of time, in 1916?

How many millions of Americans would have been killed (they were always honored with front row places), how many tens of billions would have been added to the public debt, and the repudiated debts of Europe?

THE ARCHBISHOP of Canterbury, head of the official Church of England, has invited all European Christian communicants to join in prayer for peace, with resolutions outlawing all war.

While the archbishop takes that desirable step, the British government works rapidly on 3,000 airplanes of the fighting kind. Nothing like airplanes to back up eloquent prayer for peace.

LAVAL, Premier of France, who arranged with England to chop up Ethiopia to pacify Italy, and learned that it could not be done, thinks peace will come because Italy's resources will be drained.

Haile Selassie expects peace, thanks to the "small rains" that come in January, ahead of the terrifically heavy tropical rains that make military operations impossible. Laval and Haile Selassie both may underestimate Mussolini's will power. Sanctions kept Italians from selling goods abroad, which is the chief difficulty.

CONDITIONS change rapidly in Europe, and now Stalin with his big army and huge air fleet stands out as a possible arbiter of national destinies.

With Germany going her own way, announcing no plans, France fearing the worst from Germany, England afraid of just one thing, WAR, the Russian dictator, apparently afraid of nothing in particular.

THE JOYS OF CURIOSITY
WHAT ARE you murmuring about over there in the corner?

Curiosity devours me; I want to know what you're whispering about. Did you start to tell me something and then change your mind? Did you bit your tongue and decide that after all it was none of my affair?

I'm furious, I'm curious, I'm dying to know what it was. What's that you wrote on that piece of paper and put away so carefully so I couldn't see it? Villain, you attack my curiosity; you drive me frantic!

Did you and your friend go into that room and shut the door and talk about something, shutting me away from your duet? Lord, I'm in a terrible state! I'll not peek through the keyhole, not put my ear to the door, not ask prying questions, but I'm curious, curious to know what it's all about.

Lord Byron, that strange fellow, wrote: "I loathe that low vice, curiosity!"

Indeed! But, Byron, I don't believe you did. Loathed it, perhaps, in a way, but succumbed to it as much as any man. No poet, my noble fellow, was ever driven by curiosity more than you.

Did Lady Eve succumb to curiosity and eat of the apple and lost her Paradise? Indeed she did, but did she not have a most exciting life?

Was not Columbus a curious man? Was not Washington curious to taste the fruit of independence? Was not Franklin curious about his neighbors and about the lightning in his skies? Was not Tom Edison curious about a thousand facts and lent his deafened ears to many a tight-shut door? And sift much chaff before he found one golden fact?

Byron, you idiot, old San Johnson called curiosity the thirst of the soul and the great doctor was wiser than you. This trumpet ear of mine is perked for every vagrant bit of knowledge and who am I to clap a censor on it?

Hints and Dints

We are on our way for another year. Let's make it snappy!

Along about this time of the year a wife can't tell whether she's going to have turkey or hamburger for Sunday dinner until after hubby gets back from the raffle.

Mother—David, you better not eat any more chicken. You must leave room for the cake.
David—I got plenty room, ma. The chicken can move over.

The dumb animals are the ones that don't feel like every other day because of something they ate.

And, of course, there are bimbos who did not get 1936 license plates when they should have had them. The police watch for that kind.

SMART BOY
Paul W. Morton of Preepert, O., says James (English) of Londonderry, O., is puzzled. He wonders if any reader can help him out.

A few weeks ago a stranger walked into his general store and asked for a fly swatter. Mr. English obligingly dug up a fly swatter for him and said that the price was 5 cents. The man then asked him the price of an Oh, Henry candy bar.

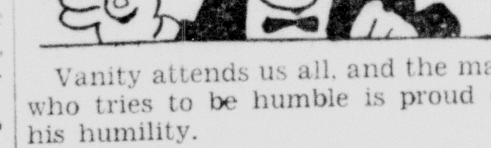

"It's 5 cents, too," said Mr. English. "Well, I'll give you the fly swatter and you give me an Oh, Henry bar," the customer answered. He began to eat the candy and started to walk out without paying for his purchase.

The storekeeper remonstrated, "You didn't pay me for that candy." "No, but I gave you the fly swatter, both were the same price, you said."

"But," said Mr. English, "you didn't pay for the fly swatter."

"Pay for it," the customer retorted scornfully. "Why should I pay for it? I didn't take it, did I?"

And Mr. English still can't figure how the man beat him.

Vanity attends us all, and the man who tries to be humble is proud of his humility.

We grant the right to any person to think as he pleases, but we do not want him to try to shove his stuff on us.

The Robinson Crusoes of today own their own islands, and besides that, they have a yacht.

TODAY'S STORYTELLER
A farmer went to New York to see the sights. Of course he took one of those sight-seeing bus rides thru the city and enjoyed hearing the announcer tell the various points of interest.

"On the right," the man with the megaphone said, "we have the Rockefeller residence." At that the farmer spoke up and asked: "Is it the John D. Rockefeller residence?"

"No, no," replied the announcer. "He couldn't be bothered."

"On the left," he said, "is the home of the Morgans."

"Do you mean J. Pierpont Morgan?" the farmer inquired.

"No," replied the busman again. (He resented the interruption.)

"And just ahead of us on the right," said the loud speaker again, "is Christ's church."

A fellow next to the farmer nudged him and said: "Ask him if it's Jesus Christ's church. You can't be wrong all the time."

said: "I wouldn't wear such things as I might not hear someone when they offered to buy me a drink!" O, row-dee-dow-dow!

Men who stop in one town, when they are supposed to be in another, are the fellows whose handwriting in the hotel registers is the least legible.

A COWED BULL
Clover Hay was milking the old brindle cow. While she was doing so, a huge bull came running up, snorting, tossing his horns in the air and pawing the ground. Yet Clover never stirred or showed the slightest alarm. She went on calmly with her milking just as if there was no wild bull anywhere around. A stranger from the city was passing just as the bull came up. He noticed, to his great astonishment, that the great animal stopped dead with a few feet of the girl and the cow and then turned around and sadly went away.

The stranger was so mystified that he said to the girl, "Were't you afraid? What made the bull run away?"

The girl then explained: "Oh, the bull is a bad bull all right but he got scared. This cow is his mother-in-law."

Some people merely dream being something. Others keep awake and are something.

It isn't until the professional panderer gets enough money for a meal that he is able to quench his thirst.

The cheaper the politician, the more he costs the country.

The young fellows of today think it was a dumb stunt for Romeo to remain on the ground so long when he talked to Juliet that time.

Girls—better look! This is Leap Year!

If some men were asked what they would do if they were president they'd have to go home and ask their wives.

Money may be a little hoarse, but it still talks.

WHEN AN INCH IS A LOT
Rainfall, as everyone knows, is measured in inches and fractions of inches. But few people realize the immense quantity of water involved in an inch of precipitation. An inch of rain over an acre of ground is equal to 27,143 gallons of water and would be sufficient to fill a cistern 20 feet square and nine feet deep. It would weigh over 113 tons.

Life is like a football. What a fellow makes out of it depends upon how good his interference is.

We often wonder what real good some American missionaries accomplish in partly civilized countries. They are often charged with making trouble.

The doctor who says: "Now take this and if it doesn't cure, come back and I'll give you something else," believes in the ancient theory that practice makes perfect.

Now we are told that picking the world's largest liar is greater than ever before this year. It is a bit hard to tell who is the biggest liar when one comes to think of it.

Apparently poor old England is tottering to another triumph.

When girl twins are babies it is almost impossible to tell them apart.

After they grow up and get married, you can tell them much.

Every youngster is the world's champion baby if his dad is any judge.

Automobile deaths dropped about 500 during 1935. That's a good start, and getting it down far lower should be the big idea of the year.

George—Now that you're married I suppose you'll take out a life insurance policy.
Edward—Oh, no, I don't think she's dangerous.

The very best liars never lie, only when it is absolutely necessary. There are very few real good liars.

When he comes to Little Rock or to Hot Springs or Memphis he sees a wealth he never dreamed existed. In particular, if he comes to Hot Springs, he sees actual luxury. Wealthy people from New York, Chicago, St. Louis come to a luxury hotel and spend in a day as much as he earns in a month. Perhaps the ratio is greater than that. It probably is.

But, in the main, the contrast is between the farmer who owns his land—to the north and the west—and the tenant farmer. He who owns the land owns freedom—and hope. He who does not can merely gain sustenance, and barely that. Economic slavery is severer than bodily slavery, for the threat of starvation is ever present with the economic slave.

BANKHEAD BILL?
Some hope was held last year that congress would pass Senator Bankhead's bill to put tenant farmers on their feet.

There is little hope now that congress will pass the bill. The cry for economy and the fear of the U. S. supreme court causes the death of such bills.

What, then, will be done? That is the question the Southern Tenant Farmers Union asks. An answer may have to be supplied. Tenant farmers are a formidable bloc of voters in seven states. And they are the strongest in Arkansas, where Senator Joseph T. Robinson, majority leader, is running for re-election.

AS IT LOOKS
To one who never previously has seen the living conditions of the southern tenant farmer and share cropper, there is a shock.

The writer's wife never had at first, the plight of these folk seemed unbelievable to her. "That this should be in such a wealthy country is past understanding," she said.

Natives assured her she had not seen the worst, by far. Even the better-fixed citizens seem worried over the situation. But what is to be done?

Rexford Tugwell's resettlement administration is making some headway. But an entire scheme of life has to be made over, a social system has to be rebuilt.

That doesn't please some. Those some haven't any too much money themselves. But there is a degree of absentee ownership which has played havoc with social and economic conditions in the south.

That is a real problem. The Southern Tenant Farmers Union may have some suggestions, which will not be readily accepted.

CONTRASTS
Revolt against conditions arises when there are contrasts.

The tenant farmer has begun to see strong contrasts.

When he comes to Little Rock or to Hot Springs or Memphis he sees a wealth he never dreamed existed. In particular, if he comes to Hot Springs, he sees actual luxury. Tenant Farmers Convene.
Gathering Held In Arkansas.
Bankhead Bill Is Sidetracked.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 2.—One of the most important conventions of the present day has received little publicity. It is the convention of the Southern Tenant Farmers Union, in Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 3-5.

Delegates from seven states arranged to come, despite their poverty.

Plans Are Made For Jackson Day Dinner In City

Democrats Will Stage Dinner Dance On Birthday Of Former President

DR. J. A. MEEHAN
NAMED CHAIRMAN

New Castle, in conjunction with over two thousand communities throughout the United States is to have a Jackson Day Dinner on the night of January 8, at The Castle Hotel, with hundreds of friends of the Democratic party sitting down together.

The party in New Castle is to be a dinner dance under the auspices of the Young Democratic clubs of Lawrence county. At a meeting held in the office of Attorney W. J. Baer, committees were appointed and arrangements made. President Findley K. Boyd of the New Castle Young Democratic club, said that the local dinner-dance was going to be a red letter affair, judging by the interest shown and the requests coming in for reservations. Contrary to rumors circulating that an exorbitant price was being charged, Mr. Boyd, Miss Margarete Uhl, secretary of the club, and other officers, have placed the assessment at a very nominal rate for the dinner and the dance.

The dinner is being planned to honor the birthday of President Jackson and to show the appreciation felt by the average American for the efforts of President Roosevelt in their behalf.

President Roosevelt will be heard over the radio that evening at 10 o'clock, and adequate facilities will be installed in the ball room at The Castleton so that his address from the number one dinner at Washington will be heard by all.

Dr. John A. Meehan has been selected by the Young Democratic clubs as chairman for the evening, assuring smooth running of the various events. Speakers of merit will be introduced to the audience at the dinner table, but there will be no speeches after the dance gets under way.

AROUND CITY HALL

Members of the present city administration will convene in council session Friday and at this session it is believed that all of the matters which can be cleared away will be disposed of as on Monday the new officials will be sworn into office.

Probabilities are that when the new members of council take over their duties Monday they may name several men to posts. It is believed that C. Ed. Brown will be renamed city clerk. It is not known definitely if action will be taken on the city assessor's job.

Four firemen named last week to the fire department took over their new duties yesterday. They worked vacations last summer, then were laid off with the understanding they would be renamed to the department, effective January 1.

Few Applications For High School Students Aid Funds

In a statement issued today State WPA Director Edward N. Jones and State NYA Director Isaac C. Sutton, said that the funds allocated for National Youth Administration for high school students would be withdrawn on January 15 unless the money was taken up by applications from students.

A total of $129,385 per month was allocated for the state of Pennsylvania. This is sufficient to give $6 per month aid to 21,564 students. Of this allocation Lawrence county is given money enough to pay 270 students $6 per month. At the present time there are but 144 taking advantage of the grants.

Any high school student 16 or over, or who will reach his or her sixteenth birthday during the present school year is eligible for the aid, providing the parents are on relief and have difficulty sending the youngsters through school.

High school students are urged to apply to their principals for the relief if it is justified, and the principal in turn will contact the superintendent.

Fisch's Name To Appear Again

Report Hauptmann's Attorneys Will Seek To Pin Kidnaping On Him

PROSECUTION WILL COMBAT NEW MOVE

(International News Service)
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—Frederick A. Pope, one of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's defense attorneys, today confirmed reports that Hauptmann's defenders were seeking to pin the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and murder on Isidor Fisch, dead German furrier, and an unidentified associate.

Asked to confirm or deny reports the defense would produce the name and picture of Fisch's associate when Hauptmann's plea for commutation of the death sentence comes before the New Jersey court of pardons, probably early next week, Pope said:

"I wouldn't go so far as to say that. But we're investigating a lead."

To Oppose Every Move
Meanwhile it was disclosed by prosecution officials that Attorney General David T. Wilentz will oppose every move made by the defense attorneys.

Concerning the new "alibi story," the prosecution officials said they were certain they could establish "that Hauptmann is again trying to pass the buck to someone he thinks we will not know anything about."

It was understood here that a reported defense request that physician and mental tests be given to several of the state's witnesses would be turned down by the court of pardons.

One member of the pardons court was quoted as saying:

"I do not believe, even if we thought this was a wise and just move, that it would be in our power to agree to such a request. After all, our courts have already passed on the reliability of witnesses, before the case reached us. By the laws of New Jersey, only guilty men come before the court of pardons."

Although Dr. John P. Condon, ransom intermediary, has not appeared here to see Governor Harold Hoffman, as it was reported he had promised to do, it is known the governor will willingly see him and discuss various phases of the case.

The funeral of Liscom Case, first of the Hauptmann trial jurors to pass away, will be held today in Camden, N. J., a few miles from Flemington. Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck and the 11 surviving jurors will attend the services.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mild and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache caused by constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

January 6 will be the Ukrainian Christmas Eve. Strict lent will be observed on that day. Most of the people in the old country will fast until 6 or 7 p. m. when they notice the evening star, that, according to the tradition, was the Star of the Three Kings. Ukrainian peasants, no matter how poor, always had at least a twelve course supper on Christmas Eve. They sang with their families a dismissal hymn: "Thy birth, O Christ Our God, rose upon the world as the Light of Knowledge; for through it those who had adored the stars were taught by a star to worship Thee, the Sun of Righteousness, and to know Thee the Dayspring from on high, O Lord, glory to Thee!"

Ukrainians will celebrate Christmas for three days. On January 7, Christmas Day, at 8 a. m. there will be a special Christmas service (Navecherie) followed by the Holy Liturgy. Christmas offerings are being sent to those who request them. January 8 at 9 a. m. Holy Liturgy will be said in the commemoration of the Most-Holy Mother of God, and on January 9 at the same time to commemorate St. Stephen, the first martyr.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

The United States Ship, Lexington, giant aircraft carrier, holds the record for the run from San Pedro, California to Diamond Head, Island of Oahu, Hawaiian Islands for surface type ships. The distance from port to port 2,226 miles and the carrier made an average speed of 30.66 miles per hour. The fastest ship compared with the American Clipper seems rather slow and outmoded.

It takes a ten ton anchor to hold one of our battleships in calm weather. There are two other anchors of the same weight for use in the case of an emergency. To each of these anchors is connected a chain weighing 90 pounds to the link and has a length of 150 fathoms or 900 feet.

During the salvage operations of the submarine S-51 which sunk off Block Island, New York, a total of 556 dives were made to the depth of 136 feet; and the average time spent by each diver on the bottom was one hour. The submarine is now being used as a training vessel at the school for submarine men.

All naval radio stations for a period of three minutes out of each thirty listen especially for distress signals. Whenever an S. O. S. is heard, the position of the vessel is determined by our radio compass stations, if possible, and this information is immediately broadcast on high power radio to all ships to render assistance if in the vicinity.

Report Italy Will Get Oil

League Embargo Will Not Halt Oil Supply It Is Declared

CLAIM AMERICAN COMPANY AIDING

(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

ROME, Jan. 2.—Italy will have plenty of oil with which to carry on her long African campaign, whether the members of the League of Nations vote an embargo or not, it was exclusively revealed to International News Service today by reliable informants.

An American company, the name of which is being jealously guarded, is at present supplying Italy with 6,000 tons of oil a month, with a reserve of one million barrels stored at Naples as a back-stop, in the event the league does curb other sources.

This reserve, it is said, has not yet been sold to Italy, but is being held in storage in the name of private individuals against the time when the flow of oil into Italy may be slowed down.

The American company has completed plans for an oil refinery at an important Italian naval base, Port Augusta, near Syracuse, on the island of Sicily, International News Service was informed. Strategic importance is assumed by these plans because Port Augusta commands the Straits of Messina, and it is the nearest supply base for Italy's Dodecanese Islands, off the coast of Asia Minor, which Italy is reported to be strongly fortifying.

Cardinal Dougherty Attacks Drinking By Mothers-Daughters

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Vigorously attacking drinking by young women and their mothers, Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of the Catholic Archdiocese of Philadelphia today advocated establishment of total abstinence societies in parishes under his jurisdiction.

"Unfortunately," the prelate declared in his annual New Year's message, "prohibition, although well meant as a cure for the drink evil, was not, in fact, successfully enforced."

"Now in two many cases, young women drink publicly and sometimes have to be carried out in an intoxicated condition from hotels, taverns and private dwellings. 'Worse still, there are mothers who encourage their daughters to drink in order to conform to modern usage. No wonder broken marriages, divorces and shameful scandals abound.'"

Income Tax Forms Are Mailed Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 2.—Income tax forms for 1935 were in the mails today for 175,000 western Pennsylvanians, H. D. Bell, acting collector of internal revenue here, announced.

Under a recent congressional amendment, the new "green" forms were mailed for the first time. These duplicates will be on file for state officials seeking information for local taxing purposes and can be scrutinized only upon written request of the governor of the state.

BELMONT CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Stephen DiMassi, president; Tony Russo, vice president; Joseph De Vivo, treasurer; Louis Rainey, financial and recording secretary; Raymond Felix, Mose Masone, Louis Tomalillo, John DeMarco, trustees. A Hamburg fry followed the election.

She's Beauty Queen

Miss Frances Woods

Miss Frances Woods, Ashland, Ky., is beauty queen at the University of Kentucky, Lexington. She is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Woods, Sr. Miss Woods' picture will head the group of beauties who have been chosen as her court of honor in the 1936 Kentuckian, student year book.

Today

may be the one to whom all will turn, which would be rather embarrassing for the "capitalist" countries.

UNCLE SAM has on his hands the job of preventing the spread of disease throughout the country, and its importation from abroad.

Dr. Curran, in charge of insects for the American Museum of Natural History, warns New York it may be invaded by malaria, brought into northern New Jersey by a CCC camp worker from the south. "The anopheles mosquito, always present, has been spreading germs. He cannot do that unless he first bites a malaria carrier."

A MOSQUITO can fly a few hundred yards at most with a favorable breeze. He is no traveler. But, he can cling to the inside of a railroad car, automobile or airplane and travel any distance.

It becomes the duty of government to watch spreading disease, especially when planes fly freely back between the United States and Asia, where so many of the dreadful diseases, bubonic, pneumonia, Asiatic cholera and others are indigenous.

WILL BUILDERS and architects let the writer know whether this is a record, as he thinks it is?

Harold A. Clark, of Chicago, observed two vacant waterfront parcels in Miami Beach, bought them, cleared the ground, built a seven-story hotel with 120 rooms, with steel heavy enough to go up 20 stories for a much bigger hotel.

Sixty days after he started clearing the lots he took in guest on the first two floors. The steel workers had gone out 18 days earlier. Those who, like this writer, have done some building and some waiting for completion, would like to know if that record has been beaten?

A KILLING, cold-blooded even for gangsters, occurs in Chicago. Albert J. Prignano, a state legislator, who combined politics with an intimate friendship with Al Capone, was shot dead as he left his car with his wife and child. After four bullets had been fired into him, one of the murderers stood over his body and fired two more bullets into his head.

To the man's terrified wife, the murderers had said: "Don't worry, Mrs. Prignano, this is only a stick-up," meaning that it would be robbery, not murder. But it was murder.

THERE WILL come vengeance, as usual. One individual was found yesterday in a truck, shot to death, on the edge of the "bloody Twentieth ward" where Prignano ruled. A racketeer-gangster career may be profitable, but is dangerous.

HOW UNCERTAIN is life? One year ago at Flemington, N. J., Liscom C. Case, juror No. 11 in the Hauptmann trial, voted with the other 11 jurors for murder in the first degree and the electric chair.

Now Mr. Case is dead, and will have reached the other shore long before Hauptmann arrives. Perhaps, how can we know, he will stand on the other side of the Styx, and point out Hauptmann as he steps ashore from his boatload. (Copyright, 1935, by King Feature Syndicate, Inc. CHICAGO MAN
IS BEST LIAR

Award Goes To James Jordan
For His Rat And Thermometer Story

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—James Jordan, of Chicago today sported "a little bauble of gold and diamonds with hardly and stones in it larger than walnuts," as the Burlington (Wis.) Liar's Club 1935 champion.

After considering whoppers from 30-odd countries, Jordan's rat tale was announced the winner by O. C. Hulet, of Burlington, club president.

Jordan's tale:

"Two years ago the winter here was so cold that it drove a large rat into our house for shelter. Do what I would I could not catch him, even with the most cleverly baited trap. Finally, I hit on an idea.

"The cold drove you in here," says I to myself. 'And the cold will catch you.'

"That night I brought in our largest thermometer and hung it in the kitchen, putting a large piece of cheese directly beneath it.

"Next morning I had Mr. Rat—for the mercury had dropped so low during the night that it had pinned both him and the cheese to the floor!"

A runnerup was Guy R. Jewett of Chippewa Falls, Wis., he had a time ridding his cucumber land of stumps until, he said, he planted a potato under each stump in a ten acre field. The soil was so rich, he swore, that by harvest time the potatoes had pushed all the stumps out of the ground.

Pittsburgh Editor
Taken By Death

George E. McMurray, 69,
Passes Away After Long Illness

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 2—Death dipped its pen in printer's ink today and wrote "30"—the newspaperman's sign-off—after the name of George Ernest McMurray, 69, Sunday editor of the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph.

Following a long illness, McMurray died in a hospital yesterday as a result of a stroke. Death came one day after the fiftieth anniversary of his start in the "fourth estate."

Born in Bolivar, O., McMurray started his career on newspapers in Canton, O., where he became a personal friend, and later publicity agent, for William McKinley. He handled the publicity for the late president's successful campaign and also supervised the releases regarding his assassination.

Moving to Pittsburgh where he worked for four years on the "Dispatch" and with the Associated Press, McMurray in 1909 returned to Canton and later to Beaver Falls where he worked on newspapers until 1914 when he again moved to Pittsburgh to take a post on the "Gazette-Times."

In 1927, he joined the Sun Telegraph. Before becoming Sunday editor, he had been copy reader, head of the copy desk and news editor. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Monsieur Monsour, aged 11, of 128 Frank Way, who was injured in a sled riding accident, on South Jefferson street hill, a few days ago, has returned to his home from the New Castle hospital.

Brennan, Philadelphia; John A. McCarthy, Philadelphia, banker; Samuel Fels, Philadelphia, industrialist and philanthropist; Judge Ralph Smith, Pittsburgh; Patrick Fagan, Pittsburgh, labor leader; Wilmer Jacoby, Pittsburgh, publisher; Edward Leech, Pittsburgh, editor; Judge Paul N. Vann, Pittsburgh, lawyer.

SUPREME COURT TO OVERSHADOW CONGRESS

Court Decisions To Map Program

Congress Will Seek To Rescue New Deal Projects Hit By Courts

MANY FEATURES OF NEW DEAL AT STAKE

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2.—Literally and figuratively, Congress is meeting this year in the shadow of the United States Supreme Court.

The literal shadow is the smaller. For although it is expensive and properly impressive, the new building into which the court moved after adjournment last summer, just across the plaza from the capitol, is not so bulky as the pile of granite and limestone which houses the legislative bodies. In point of physical dimensions, the capitol still overwhelms the new cathedral of justice.

Time For Reckoning
But the figurative shadow looms more threatening. For it may be truthfully said that this year the fate of the New Deal reposes more in the Supreme court than in legislative halls. The court will lead and Congress will follow. The time has come since President Roosevelt became host at the White House.

Congress will meet on Friday. The court reconvenes Monday after a brief recess. Nobody knows just what the court may do, but it's a pretty safe guess Congress can't do anything to divert the eyes of official Washington from the chamber into which nine black-robed justices will file exactly at noon.

Many Cases At Stake
The court already has under consideration two cases involving the validity of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, one questioning the Bankhead Cotton Control Act, and one challenging the Tennessee Valley Authority Act. It has agreed to hear cases seeking to invalidate the Guffey Coal Act and the Federal Housing Act. Probably this session also it will hear argued the Wagner Labor Disputes Act, the Holding Company Act, the Frazier-Lemke Farm Mortgage Moratorium Act, and the Railroad Retirement Act.

With a calendar such as this, involving virtually the entire New Deal program, it is not difficult to believe the court will be more in the public eye than will Congress over the next few months.

Decisions Near
The court may or may not announce opinions Monday on any of the three statutes involved in cases already argued, namely, the AAA, Bankhead, and TVA Acts. It is pretty generally conceded Congress will mark time until Monday in anticipation of some court action.

According to present indications, the views of the Supreme court will largely determine the program of "mud" legislation. If New Deal laws are nullified, then the Administration undoubtedly will seek to force through corrective statutes. Otherwise, President Roosevelt is not expected to submit any very extensive legislative projects.

Recognizing 1936 is an election year, the president will probably step aside to allow each Democratic candidate for reelection to make his own little spotlight. The president has established his record. There is no good reason why he cannot now permit the pending session to be one of political campaigning.

Congressmen On Own
Each member of Congress will probably enter this pre-election drive in his own manner. Some will enter flocks of bills for home consumption, and the obscurity of committee pigeonholes. Others will make plenty of speeches and insert extensions of remarks into the congressional record. Still others will pursue the policy of riding on the Administration bandwagon.

President Roosevelt's drive for enactment of the New Deal program altered the characteristics of a legislative session. The usual fuss and publicity over innumerable private bills designed to get votes back home was silenced. Members were whipped into line and stayed there, or rebuked occasionally and were roundly booted. The average congressman lost a great deal of the publicity which had hitherto been his in the home town newspapers.

The coming session, however, promises to resume the nature of the sessions Washington is accustomed to viewing. Each senator and representative will likely have ample opportunity to introduce all the private bills he wishes, to make speeches for home consumption, and to lay the foundation for his campaign as he was allowed to do before the New Deal regimentation of Congress.

LILY BULBS
HARRISBURG, Pa.—Reports reaching the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture indicate that lily bulbs of doubtful quality are being sold in some mid-western states. Department officials are therefore, advising all prospective purchasers of bulbs in Pennsylvania to buy from sources known to be reliable.

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Hush and Hallelujah! John Charles Thomas, the caroler, abhors barbers who chatter while performing their offices; his favorite is so mute he won't ask what the singer wants and proceeds with the works—to which Thomas submits, musing on sweet songs. . . . Lowest-priced merrymaking price fixed in Manhattan on New Year's Eve was at the evening, including paper horns and funny hats. . . . The highest price was that of the Sixty club, a congeries of luminous theatrical personalities, which extracted $20 each from non-members.

Lawrence Tibbett is another of those Midnight Strutters. . . . He can be glimpsed now and again, hands in pockets, whistling or humming softly, walking by the river's edge in East End avenue late at night. . . . Marlene Dietrich, until recently never heard on the radio, will shortly be a regular mike speaker. . . . Clark Kinnaird, editor and well known Central Press writer, is on his Maryland farm for a holiday reunion with the poachers, who are now taken through his place during his absence by local guides. . . .

Prediction: Some time during 1936 there will be a film starring Fred and Adele Astaire. . . . Fred's sister, Lady Cavendish, is now in New York. . . . All grand old men, sagely rubbing jowl whiskers and commenting on the state of the nation remind me of Ed. Howe, grandest of them all. . . . I am told that the book he is writing now, "Final Conclusions," will be put away for posthumous publication—"to avoid getting hanged by people who believe the same things I do."

1935 Healthier Year Than 1934 In Pennsylvania

Slight Increase In Several Diseases Is Offset By Improvement In General Health

HARRISBURG—Pennsylvania's health was far better in 1935 than in the preceding year, figures compiled by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health show.

Communicable diseases, the yardstick by which preventive work is measured, were in the main greatly reduced. Only two virulent diseases—infantile paralysis and cerebral meningitis—showed increases, and in both cases the proportion of increase was small as compared with other states.

In 1934 there were 128 cases of infantile paralysis and 26 deaths. Up to November 30, 1935, there were 164 cases and only 20 deaths. There were 151 cases of cerebrospinal meningitis reported during 1934 with 52 deaths, and 165 cases up to November 30 this year with 95 deaths.

Chicken-pox was reduced from 26,525 cases in 1934 to 22,176 cases reported to November 30. Diphtheria dropped from 2330 to 1557; measles 68,710 to 56,940; mumps, 17,039 to 15,100; scarlet fever, 20,727 to 14,627; tuberculosis 4,907 to 4182 and whooping cough from 22,343 to 9,762.

I have just read Julian Meade's "I Live in Virginia"—pedestrian stuff, for the most part, and smelling of the pedagogue's lamp, to have been inspired by one of the most colorful and richly glamorous sections of these United States. Odd how people can write so drably in the presence of material that races the pulse; and how, too, others can make apparently dead stuff come to life. . . . One of the most interesting books about New York I ever read was devoted entirely to the statues and monuments of the town. . . . One of the dullest tomes I ever tackled was called "Wild Rite and Cuts Among South Sea Islanders." . . . Another: "Fighting the Devil in Modern Babylon."

The race is on again for "longest bar in the world" honors. . . . Now the Astor has installed a monster counter at which 150 patrons can bend elbows simultaneously. . . . El Chico's are devilishly ingenious: When you stir a beverage strange lights glow and sparkle in the glass—all done by radio control. . . . Peggy Bacon—that surprising young woman who won success by reminding women that catniss is a universal trait! . . . Her new book, "Cat Calls," is a sizzler. . . . Harpo Marx, the most literary-minded of the brothers, glimpsed walking down Madison avenue with a copy of "It Can't Happen Here" under his arm. . . . Morton Downey is opening his own night club, in which his wife will entertain from time to time. . . . Mrs. Byron Foy, nominated one of the best-dressed women in the world in many polls, has a wardrobe smaller than any movie star's.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—A report from the State bureau of animal industry shows that 557,863 individual dog licenses were issued in Pennsylvania during the first ten months of 1935. This is 25,512 more than during the corresponding period of 1934.

Truck Hits Pole; Two Are Injured

Serious Accident Occurs On Butler Road On Wednesday Morning

In the first bad motor accident of the new year in Lawrence county, which occurred at 9:10 Wednesday morning on the Butler road, Wallace Bryan, 45, Cleveland, O., and A. K. Trease, 35, Akron, O., went to the New Castle hospital with serious injuries. Bryan's right leg is badly fractured and torn, the muscles and ligaments being ripped as though by a knife. In addition, he is bruised about the head and body. Trease is badly battered about the head and is still in a state of shock.

The accident occurred just at the edge of the Weinberger nurseries near the Baltimore & Ohio tracks. The men were returning from the east with an empty truck, it being the cabin and trailer type. A passing motorist said the truck came down the hill beyond the B. & O. underpass and nearly crashed into the concrete abutments.

There is a reverse turn from the underpass and in straightening out the truck, Trease, the driver, failed to keep the road. The truck skidded off the highway and crashed into a telephone pole, shearing it off at the base and crashing the cabin about the heads of the two men.

From the appearance of the truck cabin it seems a miracle that both men were not killed outright. Not enough of the super-structure remains to be worth a thing, although the motor block seemed to be unharmed. The men were taken to the hospital by passing motorists. The truck is the property of the Reid Brothers of Akron, O.

COLDS ARE NOW REACHING OUT FOR VICTIMS!

Be Wise—Be Careful—Adopt This Simple Precautionary Measure!

Colds are increasing. In some sections Influenza is breaking out. Don't be alarmed, but don't be careless.

A cold is much easier avoided than cured! Do the sensible thing and adopt the ounce of prevention policy. Stay out of crowds as much as you can. Avoid coughers and sneezers. Dress warmly, keep your feet dry and sleep in a well-ventilated room.

Every morning and night take one or two Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets. This will keep the bowels open and combat infection.

Millions know Bromo Quinine as an excellent cold treatment, but not enough know it as an equally excellent preventive.

Learn its efficacy and keep a package handy all winter long as your "safety first" measure.

If you have already caught cold there is nothing better you can take than Bromo Quinine. It doesn't merely suppress the cold—it helps drive it out of the system. At the same time, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

For more than forty years, Bromo Quinine has been the largest selling cold tablet in the world. For more than forty years it has been the standby of thousands in treating a cold.

Ask for it by the full name and look for the initials L.B.Q. stamped on every tablet. The cost is small, but the protection is large.

Elimination of state lines and division of the United States into ten or twelve Federal districts with that number of "sub-capitals" is recommended to President Roosevelt by the National Resource Committee after an extensive survey. Cities mentioned as possible "sub-capitals" are shown on the map. While sixteen districts are being considered, a maximum of twelve is the plan of the committee which includes five cabinet officers.

TARENTUM, Pa., Jan. 2.—Ambushed when he opened the door of the house of a friend he was visiting in answer to a persistent knocking, Sam Marino, 48, of Culmago, father of eight children, was killed by a shotgun charge early today.

Police arrested L. O. Gematto, 55, a storekeeper, of Curtisville, who they said, had been quarreling with Marino for several years.

Salvatore Provenza, in whose home Marino was visiting, said he and Marino earlier had attempted to drunken Gematto to purchase some beer. They returned home he said and shortly afterward heard a knocking on the door.

"We opened it and there was Dematto," Provenza continued. "I ask him to shoot me and not my friend. But, he hit me with the shotgun and then shot Marino."

The five youths who were alleged to have committed the assault were not arrested but were ordered to appear before the mayor today. He discharged them after a hearing in which he condemned gang tactics.

According to what the mayor said, Tackett was driving through Liberty street and a crowd was on the street. He steered the car in such a way to avoid an accident. However, the auto struck some of the people. It was after this the fight started in which Harmon was badly mauled.

Demand Radio Time Be Granted For Reply To Roosevelt's Speech

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Mincing no words in his claim President Roosevelt is playing politics with his message opening the last session of the 74th Congress. Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, demanded the two broadcasting companies grant his party a similar amount of time on the air in which to reply to Mr. Roosevelt's remarks.

Mr. Roosevelt nettled the Republicans by electing to deliver his message on the state of the Union to Congress at nine p. m., when the nation's radio audience is at its height.

Sends Message to Companies
Soon as Fletcher learned the President planned to go before a joint session of the Senate and House tomorrow night to read his message, he wired the following statement to the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting Co.: "The press announces arrangements have been or are being made by your company to broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up the speech to be delivered by the President to Congress Friday night."

If this be true, as chairman of the Republican national committee, I request that your company allot on some closely following day the same amount of time over the same stations at the same hour of the day given to Mr. Roosevelt for a broadcast of comment on issues confronting the next session of Congress by Republican spokesmen, to be selected by me after consultation with the Republican leaders of both houses of Congress.

Fairness Is Demanded
"The essence of American democracy and free speech is fairness. If you grant my request it will demonstrate you are in no way influenced by fear of the party in power."

"The President is a candidate for re-election this year. The House and Senate have only once before set aside rules to have a special night session for a Presidential address. That was in 1917 when war was declared."

"The President's decision to dramatize his message and to bring down to the level of a political speech his duty to address the Congress on the state of the Union is understandable in the light of past performance."

Political Address
"It is apparent, therefore, that the President considers the members of the Senate and the House as only incidentally his audience and that he will be addressing himself to the electorate as a part of his campaign for re-election."

"The political character of speeches by members of the administration over the radio should be recognized for what they are. Both sides of vital current issues should be presented to the American jury for judgment."

"Unless the party in opposition be granted equal facilities the dominant party can control the instrumentalities of communication in an effort to perpetuate itself in power."

Mysterious Wound In Stroman's Leg

Sheriff Called To Home In Union Township After New Year Celebration

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard was called to the home of "Buster" McKisson in Union Township, yesterday, where he found Bish Stroman, suffering from a wound that appeared to be a bullet wound in one leg near the knee.

Neither Stroman nor McKisson could tell how the wound was made. It was claimed that they had been to a New Year's celebration at the house of a neighbor at which there was considerable drinking going on. From the appearance of Stroman he must have been involved in a fight, either at the house where the celebration had been held or afterwards. He had a black eye and several bruises on his body in addition to the wound in his leg, it was stated by the sheriff. He was in bed when the sheriff arrived.

Stroman was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital by the sheriff where an X-ray is being taken of his leg. It is believed that the bullet is lodged in the bone as there was no wound except that at which the bullet had entered. Sheriff Pritchard is awaiting a report from the hospital.

Both Stroman and McKisson are colored.

Jordon Reveals Scope Of Census Of Business

Preparations went forward here today for the inauguration throughout Lawrence county on Monday, January 6 of the census of business, to be directed by Ralph T. Jordan as supervisor.

Jordan said today that his force of 16 enumerators were about ready to make their canvass in the county.

In the Federal building Mr. Jordan and his office staff have opened headquarters for the census operators in Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties. The office here is to direct all work in the 26th congressional district.

Mr. Jordan stated that every retail and wholesale business, all hotels, places of amusement, business service companies, insurance agencies, real estate offices, and trucking and bus companies; all banks, office building managers and contractors will be canvassed for reports on their operations during the calendar year 1935. The results are to be tabulated in Philadelphia, headquarters of the Business Census and become the basic statistics which businesses use in planning their operating policies.

All enumerators will be instructed thoroughly on all phases of the census, the supervisor said, prior to the beginning of the canvass.

Supervisor Jordan explained this census has been extended considerably beyond the limitations of the census of distribution for 1929 and the census of American business for 1933, as a result of business requests that all fields of business be included.

"It is designed," "to supply a definite answer to the question of how many concerns there are in business, the total volume of annual business, and the total payroll and employment. More than 100 representatives delegated by various business associations in each field to be covered, met with census officials and formulated the questions to be asked."

Retail trade will be divided into two size classifications: stores with total sales of $50,000 and over, and those with sales of less than $50,000. Commodity data will be sought from the larger group and from all wholesale establishments including exporters, importers and limited function wholesalers.

For the first time, Mr. Jordan announced the census includes banking and finance for the entire range of commercial, agricultural and mortgage and personal credit finance as well as security brokers and dealers.

Construction, including building, highway and heavy construction by contractors is included, as in 1929. General contractors, operative builders and sub-contractors are to be covered.

Highway and street transportation including trucking for hire and bus operations are included in the census for the first time. Commercial warehousing is included in the comprehensive plans announced today.

A census of the business operating office, commercial and other non-residential buildings will be made in cities of more than 10,000. For the first time the operations of insurance companies, agents and brokers, real estate brokers and dealers, management and rental agents as well as the business aspects of non-profit associations and organizations of every type, (exclusive of religious bodies) are included in the censorship.

Stanford Tops Mustangs 7 To 0 In Great Game

Moscip And Topping Stars Of Game As Coast Eleven Whips South-erners

PAULMAN SCORES LONE TOUCHDOWN

By GEORGE T. DAVIS
International News Service
Sports Writer

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—The "laughing boys" have had the last laugh on those who claimed western football was obsolete.

When Stanford scored its 7-0 victory over Southern Methodist yesterday in the Rose Bowl it brought the game of football out of the basketball category and proved one still pays off on power when it is accompanied by alert defensive playing.

The Mustangs of Southern Methodist were examples of the new brand of open football that was supposed to shelve the more conservative type of play exhibited by Stanford. But the Indians were the ones to demonstrate that two fast-charging ends, such as Keith Topping and "Monk" Moscip, can break up the wide-open style of Texas football.

Great End Play
It was the work of these two ends—plus the kick and pass-coverage of Bill Paulman—that sent the 10-6 favored Mustangs to defeat and made the old-timers who still cling to conservative methods break out in wide grins.

Bobby Wilson, ace runner and passer of Southern Methodist, said frankly he never had seen two such ends as this Stanford pair. Wilson was a mighty tired and beaten boy as he sat in the lobby of the Biltmore hotel last night, but he had the characteristic gameness to laud the Stanford ends.

Stanford Good
"Matty" Bell, Southern Methodist coach, voiced the same sentiments added that Stanford easily was the best team the Mustangs faced. He made no excuses for the defeat, although he did say his own team was not particularly "hot" yesterday. But he gave Stanford full credit for "cooling them off."

Bell differed with most fans in singling out "Bones" Hamilton and Bobby Grayson as the best of the Stanford backs—above even Paulman, who caught the popular fancy with timely kicking and pass-interceptions.

Charley-Horse
Grayson was not the same offensive threat as of old, his biggest gain being seven yards, but this was due to a charley-horse sustained in the opening period. But the famous all-American did prove he was more than a ball-carrier by turning in the greatest defensive game of his career. He covered passes with uncanny alertness, and it was his individual effort in knocking down a long pass—apparently into the hands of Maco Stewart—in the fourth quarter that saved Stanford from what seemed a sure touchdown.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Alfred Jarvis, of Tenafly, N. J., upset the top-seeded favorite, Donald Leavens, of Milwaukee, and Northwestern U. at New York yesterday to win the national junior indoor singles title 6-4, 4-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3. Quick service, splendid volleying and strong play off the backhand were too much for Leavens, despite the fact he played the best tennis he has exhibited during the past week.

After the judges split yesterday Referee Red Robinson awarded the decision to Cleto Locatelli, of Italy, over Tony Herrera, of Pittsburgh, in a 10 round sizzling hot scrap at Pittsburgh. One judge cast a vote for Herrera and the other decided the fight a draw. Red Robinson's vote gave the bout to Locatelli. In a fight at Milwaukee, Gorilla Jones, former middleweight champion, knocked out Tait Littman, of Milwaukee in the first round of a bout scheduled for 10 rounds. Rodolfo Casanova, of Mexico, defeated Freddie Miller, N. B. A. champion featherweight, in a 10 round non-title bout before 30,000 fans at Mexico, and Johnny Defoe, of New York, scored a technical knockout over Howard Scott, of Houston, Tex., at Washington.

Leo Freisinger, 19-year-old Olympic team member from Chicago, won the Middle Atlantic men's speed skating title at Newburgh, N. Y., yesterday when he dethroned his Olympic teammate, Allen Potts, of Brooklyn. He won the 880-yard race and finished second in the mile event to score 50 points. Potts and two Milwaukee members of the Olympic team, Bob Petersen and Delbert Lamb scored 40 points each.

University of Michigan yesterday at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., held Colgate, Rutgers and the University of Miami to a 10-10 deadlock in an intercollegiate swimming meet.

The Norwegian jumper, Ringer Ruud, led the field yesterday in the first tests of the Olympic ski jump at Garmisch-Partenkirchen. He made three jumps of 72, 82 and 78 meters, respectively.

Linfield captured the Irish football cup for the eighteenth time at Belfast yesterday. Distillery lost 3 to 0 in the titular game.

All-East Team Topples West In Coast Game

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—Thanks to one of Andy Kerr's own boys from Colgate, Don Irwin, the fast six foot one inch 192-pound fullback who calls Ulich, N. Y., his home, the East All-Stars today held their first victory in four years over the West All-Stars in the Shrine's annual football classic here for the crippled children's hospital.

Irwin alternated with Sheldon Boise of Minnesota at fullback and played an outstanding role in the east's spectacular fourth period rally that netted three touchdowns and a 19 to 3 victory.

Kerr and his coach, Dick Hanley, formerly of Northwestern, were loud in their praise of Irwin. And so were Bate Hollingbery of Washington State, and Percy Loece, coaches of the defeated eleven.

The Shrine intersectional series now stands: West, won 7; East, won 4.

Texas Christian Takes Victory In Sugar Bowl Battle

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 2.—Sammy Baugh, almost the goat, today shared the hero's spotlight with Taldon Manton in Texas Christian University's 3-to-2 Sugar Bowl victory over Louisiana State.

It was "Pasin' Sam" who handed the Tigers their two points. Early in the second period Louisiana steamrolled to the Frogs' one-foot line with line smashes by Abe Mical, Bill Crass and Katherine. But the Texas line held and the Frogs fumbled the ball on downs. Baugh fumbled back to pass, stepped back of the end zone, automatically giving the Tigers a safety and a two-point lead.

Schmeling-Louis May Never Meet In Roped Arena

Adolf Hitler May Ask Maxie Schmeling To Stay In Germany

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—After reading some excerpts from a few German newspapers today, I'm suddenly impressed with the possibility that, when the appointment with Joe Louis falls due here in June, Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion of the world, might turn up unexpectedly elsewhere. The attitude of the German press, while vague, is nevertheless alarming. It clearly implies that it finds the subject of Louis objectionable and it is, I think, though probably unnecessary, to add that any attitude of the press there is strictly an official one.

Hitler Takes Hand.
It is therefore, presumed that Hitler doesn't care very deeply for the suggestion that the superiority of the pure-strain Nordic is ever in doubt.

The only "out" for Schmeling there is to be so impressed with himself and his chances as to convince the Nazi regime. Otherwise, does it seem likely, under the circumstances that Hitler will let his prize fighter come back to America just to lose an evening of fiasco practice by a colored man? Somehow, it does not seem likely.

Louis Passed Up.
It seems even less probable when the fact is considered that no reference of Louis' knockout of Pauline appeared in a Munich paper for three days after the fight and then only to speak patronizingly of American sports writers' enthusiasm for Louis' ability.

One said that Louis was just a fair fighter. Another referred to Pauline's elderly state, but guardedly, since to mention Pauline too conspicuously was to bring up an embarrassing contrast. At least three times and perhaps four, Pauline has gone the limit with Schmeling the last time not very long ago in Berlin. Nevertheless, the point was made that Pauline was too amiable in the bosom to go into his antics from a crouch and, therefore, was an easy victim.

No mention at any time was made of Schmeling having signed to meet Louis in June.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Along Broadway today we find Joe Humphreys, Dean of all sports announcers, out of the hospital and Palm Beach bound.

Helen Hicks, the golfing lady, also is heading south... to Pinehurst, Augusta and Miami, where she will team up on the links with Gene Sarazen... The fair Helen wants to bet she can beat 90 percent of the male golfers of the country... A sure bet since she can shoot in the low 70s.

Glenn Cunningham, the nation's ace miler, is due in to start his indoor campaign... after a 4:16 mile in New Orleans.

Both Madison Square Garden and the 20th Century Club have turned thumbs down on a Miami fight this winter.

Lou Ambers is favored at 6 to 5 to take Frankie Kilcoff tomorrow. The regulars believing Frankie will have to score a kayo to win.

The Garden's pairing Frank Connolly and Jorge Brescia, Bob Pastor and Steve Dundas, Hank Bath and Red Berman and Etore and Simms for a week hence... When Bath and Berman clash you'll see Jack Kearns and Jack Dempsey in opposite corners as managers.

Ettore is managed by Lew Tandler, the old lightweight, who now weighs 185... Jimmy Johnston once paid Lew $24,000 for one of his fights with Bennah Leonard.

New Lew says he'll be lucky to get $94 for his end of Ettore's next fight for Johnston.

Jacobs In Chicago
Mike Jacobs is Chicago-bound to lay the ground work for the Louis-Retzlaff fight Jan. 17... Mike and his ticket man, George Smith, have split after years of friendship.

Time and again in the past Mike signed blank checks for George when Mike had hundreds of thousands in the bank... And now they split over a ridiculously simple thing like the proper way to ship a trunk... They do some strange things in the fight racket.

That reminds me of the noted fight manager who stumbled home late the other night... Found a bowl of what he thought was hash in the icebox, fried it and ate it... Next morning friend wife said: "I wonder where that bowl of kernel ration I had for Fido's breakfast went to?" Friend hubby went outside—hurriedly—for air.

Neusel In London
Walter Neusel, who was knocked off by Primo Carnera in his last start, is going to London to fight the winner of the Peterson-Harvey bout.

Hal Dibble, the old track and field maestro, plans to have the fastest indoor track in the world in the Garden this season... "And," adds Hal, "if Cunningham can't do a 4:06 mile on that, it will be only because he hasn't got it in him."

KEYSTONE MIDGETS WIN

Keystone A. C. Midgets floor team handed the Shenangoes a 12 to 11 defeat at Senior High floor Tuesday, it was announced today. Covelli and Perrone were the stars for the Key Midgets with Cagnetti best for the losers.

Falcons To Play Beaver Falls, Pa., P. N. A. Quintet

Polish Falcons of New Castle, coached by Marion Kolodjeski, will play the Polish Nationals of Beaver Falls, Pa., tonight at the local Falcon hall instead of the Purple Hearts of Beaver Falls, it was announced. The preliminary game will start at 7 o'clock.

The Falcons have been going at top speed so far this year and have only dropped one contest. The game tonight should be one of the best of the year as the valley team is highly rated.

Coach Kolodjeski will have Kawa, Kendra, Koszela, Augustyn, Kolodjeski and Sniezek in the lineup tonight.

Joe Gould, manager of the titleholder, has come to an agreement with the former Negro heavyweight champion whereby Johnson has been enrolled as top man amount those who will be assigned to the task of preparing the champion for the defense of his royal kingdom against Louis.

Naturally all these plans would be knocked into a cocked hat if Max Schmeling should defeat Louis in June. Johnson would not be interested in the outcome of a battle between Jim and Max so far as coaching the champion is concerned.

This may be an all important move on Gould's part. Johnson is positive that Joe Louis is as faulty as an old chain-drive motor car in his boxing technique. Jack maintains that he can capitalize these faults for Jimmy's benefit.

Would Box Louis.
Johnson, further, wants to box Louis three rounds just to prove that Joe couldn't lay a glove on him, old as he is.

"Joe Louis wouldn't hit me with a buggy-whip in three heats," said Johnson today in confirming his appointment as aide de camp to the champion.

Has No Balance.
"Louis will find out that he knows nothing about balance and proper stance after he sends a few punches at Braddock. The Detroit kid gets hurriedly off balance when he punches. He hasn't been shown up yet."

"The simple reason is this: There hasn't been a man in with him courageous enough to fight him. Braddock has everything—heart, balance, confidence and a solid punch in either hand. He'll look every inch the champion against Louis, because he knows all the answers. I'll wise him up on a few points that can't fail to make him a positive winner against Louis."

WARDEN LAWES BEEN AT SING SING FOR SIXTEEN YEARS

(International News Service)
OSSINGING, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Warden Lewis E. Lawes has completed his 16th year as head of Sing Sing prison.

The warden revealed that during his period of service 20,114 law-breakers were admitted to the institution. Executions numbered 221.

Jack Johnson Is Signed To Help Braddock

By HYPE IGLOE

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Jack Johnson, on a parity with Jim Corbett in the manly art of self-defense, will be Jim Braddock's chief adviser if he defends his heavyweight championship of the world against Joe Louis.

"Lil' Arthur," as Tad nicknamed him, will be in charge of boxing in the champion's camp and will be boss in Jim's corner.

Will Help Braddock.

A meeting of the Church League AA and A managers will be held tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:15 o'clock for a discussion of the schedule for the second half of the season.

Says Forces Of Recovery Are Now At Work

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Commenting on the business outlook, M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, declared "the forces of recovery are at work and will continue to influence improvement in general business activity."
"Freight and passenger business have shown a slight upward trend in 1935," Clement observed. He added:
"If I am correct in my belief, the railroads are sure to benefit, and provided their expenses are not increased by legislative burden, and provided their rates are not reduced by governmental action, I think they may expect somewhat better results in 1936 than fell to their lot in 1935."

Market Gets Away To Active 1936 Opening, But Turns Irregular

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—After greeting 1936 with a strong and active opening, the stock market turned irregularly lower today.

Early gains ranging up to half a point were wiped out after the first 15 minutes of trading and losses ranging up to two points were substituted in a number of leaders, including Douglas, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Atchison and Western Union.

Despite reports of a good liquor business over the holidays, the alcohol shares were reactionary with National Distillers and Schenley losing half a point each. Governor Lehman's proposal for a boost in liquor tax in this state to help defray his social security program was a factor in the downturn.

While the boost in scrap prices at Pittsburgh over the holiday was accepted as a harbinger of a rebound in steel operations, the steel shares, after a higher opening, weakened with the rest of the market. Bethlehem Steel was off half a point and U. S. Steel one-quarter.

Profit-taking lowered quotations on all auto shares, with Chrysler losing over a point and General Motors half as much. Auburn was off a point.

Realizing also depressed the aircraft shares, with Douglas dropping over two points and United Aircraft one.

The utilities were mixed, the sugars and class issues trended higher and the food shares were steady.

Commodities started the new year on the upbeat, with wheat gaining half a cent and cotton nearly 50 cents a bale.

OFFICE SURPRISED
BY FACULTY 26-21

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 2.—Shelby Inter-department basketball league got off to an auspicious start Wednesday night when all teams went into action before a good sized crowd. Three games were played.

In the first the Finishing team, defending champions, trimmed the Inspection team 28-10; the Mechanicals pulled through in the last quarter to nose out the Cold Draw 18-16 in the second game; the Faculty team from the local high school surprised a strong Office five by winning 26-21.

After a slow start in which the Finishing team was held to a 3-3 count in the first period by the Inspection, they gradually picked up momentum to lead 9-6 at the half, 18-10 in the third quarter, and finally began to click on all cylinders in the final stanza to score ten points while holding their opponents scoreless. Ursu and Lasso were the big guns in the Finishing attack. Cavalier was best for the losers.

In a close and hard fought game the Mechanicals put on a spurt in the closing moments of the game and came through with an 18-16 victory. There was never more than three points difference between the teams at any time. The Cold Draw led 5-2 in the first quarter, 9-6 at the half, and 10-9 in the third period and lost out in the final Ruback, Arnold and Kimes figured prominently in the Mechanical attack. Mayne was outstanding for the Cold Draw.

The Faculty composed of Director Jack McPhee, Coach Denny Schill, Assistant Coach Jerry Newton, Ernest Hensley, and John King of the local high school took an early lead and were never headed. They led the Office 7-0 in the first quarter, 7-2 at the half, 18-14 in the third period, and 26-21 final. It was a close and hard fought game.

Margaret L. Henry Home Children Excell In New Years Day Program For Y's Mens Club

New Year's night, Wednesday, January 1, before a most appreciative audience, including the Y's Men's Club of New Castle, the honor guests of the occasion, children of the Margaret L. Henry Home put on one of the finest holiday programs of the season. The affair was supervised by Mrs. Lydia Green, chairman, who composed many of the poems and songs, that delighted the kiddies, as well as those on the side lines. She was aided by Miss Margaret L. Henry, Mrs. Madge Place, Lillian Homich, Minnie Scheffler and Mae Stanelia, with the festivities.

In a decorative setting, true to the present season, a large Christmas tree brilliantly decorated was the center attraction in the playroom, which was the stage for the performers. Little Sammy Sacco in an outfit appropriate to the "New Year—1936" entered, and Robert Carlino as the "Old Year—1935" enacted their roles to perfection. Betty Rhinehart and Evelyn Place, filled the "Mother" roles.

The entire evening was spent most enjoyably, with the young folks contributing the following program, and Pearl Wick, acting as the page.

Sammy Sacco, Christmas recitation to Betty Rhinehart, in "Mother" role.

"Little Lads With Weary Heads" by Sammy Sacco, Bobby Wilkins and Alan Hodge.

"Silent Night" number, played by Beverly Rhinehart, Nancy Carlino, and Annabelle Williams, with Antionette leading—as the "Three Wise Men" enter Betty Rhinehart, "Welcome Neighbors"—Evelyn Place, Donnie McKain, Dickie Wilkins and Bobby Groves.

Group representing the Y's Men's Club, enacted by Robert and James Clegg, Robert Carlino and John Schuffert, each giving appropriate recitations.

Santa Claus song, sung by same group of boys, including Lawrence Groves.

The singing of the Star Spangled Banner, by the entire assemblage. Dance, "Wooden Soldier and China Doll" by Mary and Della Sacco.

Doll song by group of ten little girls.

Cane Dance, by Rosemary Place and Virginia Quiroz.

Military tap dance by Rose Sacco, Boys' Drill.

Skit by Mae Stanelia, Ann Palco, Rose Sacco and Mrs. Lydia Green, with all joined in singing "Red Sails in the Sunset" combined with patriotic number.

In rhyme, "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town," by little lads.

The evening concluded with the Y's Men's song, sung by the Home kiddies to the tune of a popular number.

Following, the guests were ushered into the dining room, where they were served a delicious lunch, by the committee in charge, assisted by several of the youngsters.

Danger Of War
Not So Great

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 2.—The new year opens with the danger of war in the Mediterranean much less than what it was during the last few months of 1935.

This is the opinion of a joint committee of company and Lloyd's underwriters appointed to fix rates for war risk insurance on immediate shipments.

The rate on cargo for voyages to, from or via the Mediterranean is reduced from $1.25 per $500 to 79 cents.

Eastern Publisher Says Democrats Will Choose Philadelphia Site

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A prediction that the Democrats will hold their national convention in Philadelphia was made here today by J. David Stern, eastern newspaper publisher, following a conference with President Roosevelt.

"I think Philadelphia is going to get the convention," said Stern as he left the White House. "That was the object of my visit here. The President didn't say so, but he seemed favorably inclined—but as you know, the convention won't be any place he does not want it."

Sarcastic Reply
Stern also took occasion to refer sarcastically to the statement of National Republican Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, demanding that the G. O. P. be given an equal amount of time on the air to answer President Roosevelt's message (tomorrow night).

"In view of the fact that 85 per cent of the press of the country is definitely conservative, I don't see why Fletcher should be so concerned about the President getting on the air," he said. "I don't mean that 85 per cent of the people are conservative, but the newspapers most certainly are. In the interest of the 'fair play' which Fletcher referred to in his statement, he should take this fact into consideration."

(International News Service)
DES MOINES, Jan. 2.—The attempt to call thousands of Iowa WPA workers out on the most ambitious strike ever attempted in Iowa died of its own weight today.

Without ever being rescinded formally, the strike simply did not take place. It was set for January 2, but that date arrived and WPA projects continued unhindered.

Inventory Of Unemployed
Shows 18,531 Eligible
For WPA Projects
In District

SEVENTY-FIVE PER CENT ARE WORKING

In a statistical statement today, J. Vale Downie, director of district 14, Works Progress Administration, shows a detailed account of the people employed in this district and a comparison with other districts. The statement follows:

These statistics are the result of a nation-wide inventory of all eligible workers, people already at work, as of December 14.

In District 14 (comprising the four counties, Beaver, Butler, Lawrence and Mercer) there are theoretically 18,531 workers eligible for WPA employment. This figure takes into consideration the fact that only one worker from each family is eligible and only those that were on relief prior to December 1, 1935. Actually at work in District 14 the week ending December 21, were 14,012 workers.

In the light of comparison with the other districts the following statements are of interest:

1. District 14 is the ninth largest district in the state, on the basis of the number of eligible workers for WPA employment.

2. District 14, with its 14,012 is in fifth place as regards to the total number of workers at work. The Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Wilkes-Barre and Uniontown districts are the only ones that have more workers on the payrolls than District 14.

3. In Pennsylvania, on December 14, 47.4% of all theoretically eligible workers were on WPA rolls, but in the state, exclusive of Philadelphia and Allegheny county, 59.3% of all theoretically eligible workers were on WPA rolls.

4. In District 14, 75.5% of all eligible WPA workers were on WPA rolls.

5. On the basis of percentage of total eligible workers District 14, with its 75.5% has a higher percentage of eligible workers on the WPA rolls than any other district in Pennsylvania.

This figure of 75.5% of all eligible workers on WPA rolls is only a theoretical figure, inasmuch as there are many families in which the worker does not accept WPA employment; the worker has found private employment, or because the worker cannot accept the strenuous outdoor work offered by WPA employment. Actually in District 14 there are only a few scattered eligible workers who have not at least been offered WPA employment. The employment office rolls in every county are practically exhausted. However, there are still a great number of women to be placed in the four counties after which there will be approximately 85% of all eligible workers on WPA rolls. That figure will be very nearly the maximum that can be attained.

MORAVIAN SECT MAY ERECT FINE MEMORIAL

(International News Service)
BETHLEHEM, Pa., Jan. 2.—In acknowledgment of their spiritual debt to the Moravian sect, Methodists of this country are considering a proposal to contribute $50,000 to $75,000 for erection of a building at Moravian college and theological seminary here.

The building, completing a campus quadrangle, will be known as John Wesley hall after the famous founder of the Methodist church. Plans to contribute to the memorial were proposed by Dr. James M. Beck of Philadelphia, former U. S. attorney general and a trustee of the college and seminary. They have been endorsed by the Methodist Episcopal church.

The proposal is expected to be acted upon shortly by the Methodist church, south, at its annual meeting in Texas.

MOVEMENT IS BEING STUDIED

Central Press

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The possibilities of Wisconsin's new Farmer Labor Progressive association are much discussed by politicians swarming into Washington for the 1936 congressional session.

The organization is a partnership of La Follette Progressives farmers, representatives of the state federation of labor and Socialists. Communists also are invited to join, as individuals.

It appears that the alliance's essential principle is "production for use" as against "production for profit"—in other words, termination of the capitalist system.

CONSERVATIVES SHUDDER

All this strikes many public men in the capital as a pretty radical alignment and program. Most New Dealers even, are skittish.

No one expects the association to make a dent of national proportions at the coming election, but if its statewide showing is a strong one, it will give shivers to conservative statesmen—and to some who are fairly liberal but not enough so to invite Communists to join them.

ANALYZE MOVE

If times improve in the next year or two or three, observers of the situation are confident that the new Wisconsin movement will peter out without reaching formidable size.

Otherwise they are afraid it will spread, perhaps becoming a serious factor to be reckoned with in 1938 and 1940.

They say that a mere pick-up in business will not avert the danger, either. That's in progress already, but minus a satisfactory diminution in unemployment. Plenty of jobs must be available too. And wages must be good, in comparison with living costs.

trends somehow worry conservatives and moderate liberals (constitution- alists generally) more than similar trends in any other state.

Senator Geo. W. Norris of Nebraska and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, for example, are as radical as was ever the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette, but Nebraska and Montana are not regarded as any such hotbeds of red sentiment as is Wisconsin.

Maybe the explanation is that the elder La Follette was an earlier radical than either Norris or Wheeler and Wisconsin became red by tradition.

FARTHER THAN FATHER

However, the elder La Follette never was as radical as his progeny; he never commended the Communists, nor advocated the outright scrapping of the capitalist system. "Young Senator Bob" and "Young Governor Phil" seem to do so, by affiliation with the Farmer Labor Progressive association.

They are willing to co-operate with communism anyway.

At least the association is.

HAS THOUGHT CHANGED?

Senator La Follette, Sr. fiddled with his Progressive party attempt in 1924, but it wasn't an auspicious year in which to make it. The country then was at the height of what it believed to be prosperity. How it might feel in the midst of a depression is a different proposition.

And even in 1924 La Follette, Sr., carried his state and registered creditably—for a "wildcat ticket"—elsewhere.

Parentally, La Follette, Sr. was a mild liberal compared with sons who acquiesce in "production for use, not for profit"—abolition of the capitalist system.

FEAR "YOUNG PHIL"

"Young Senator Bob" La Follette hasn't the leaderly qualities that his father had.

But "young Governor Phil" may have.

It's mainly of "young Governor Phil" and Wisconsin in general that conservatism and moderate liberalism (and even restrained radicalism) are afraid.

The members of the Y. P. C. A. met at the home of Miss Margaret and Harold Offutt on Wednesday evening. Games and music were the diversions of the evening after the business meeting the election of officers took place. Will Organize Adult Classes

Many Subjects Will Be Offered In WPA Educational Program For Night Schools

WILL UTILIZE
THREE SCHOOLS

Classes in adult education will be organized at North street, Lincoln-Garfield and Mahoning schools on Thursday evening, January 2, according to a statement today by E. V. Martin, supervisor of educational projects for the Works Progress Administration in this county.

At North Street school classes will be organized in Economics and Social Sciences, First Aid and nursing, drafting and mathematics, dramatics, and English and advanced book-keeping, shorthand and typewriting and parent education.

The registration last Friday night was sufficiently large to justify classes in each of these subjects and additional registrations, which can be made at any time, will probably make it necessary to subdivide these classes and make up classes in Consumers' Problems, current events, elementary law, political economy, arithmetic, spelling, language, etc.

At Lincoln-Garfield and Mahoning schools classes will be offered in Americanization, citizenship, first aid and nursing, Parent education, English, arithmetic, spelling, etc., with additional classes as called for.

Students may attend any building where the classes they desire are offered, regardless of the place they have registered originally, or live.

Students in typewriting must furnish their own typewriters, for which they will be responsible. All those taking commercial subjects must conform to certain qualifications in regard to need, which have been furnished by the state department.

Classes will be held at each of these schools every night except Saturday, from January 2 on, for the duration of the project.

Organization of classes in other than school buildings is preceeding and will be announced later.

A decree in divorce has been granted to Helen L. Shuler of 350 East Washington street, from John W. Shuler of 1313 West Washington street.

There was a steady stream of young people from Ohio who came here to get their license, because Ohio had passed an obnoxious five day waiting law.

On the first day after the new law went into effect here the licenses began to fall off and have been falling off ever since. The new law is just as distasteful to the young people of Pennsylvania as the Ohio law is to the young people of that state. It has been driving hundreds of young people to Maryland and West Virginia to get their licenses. So far as anybody knows the new law has done no good and caused a lot of trouble.

Divorce is on the increase in Lawrence county according to statistics at the probatory office. During the past year 81 divorces and two annulments have been granted, making 83 separations in all. At the first divorce court held this year there were 24 divorces granted, at the second 27 and at the third 30. Most of the divorces have been granted on the ground of desertions, with cruel and barbarous treatment coming in for second place. Other grounds have been adultery and indignities. It is believed that the depression has had something to do with the large number of divorces. Lack of employment has been given as a reason for many of the desertions.

County Treasurer William R. Pitts has received a letter from the state game commission in which sportsmen are being urged to report the amount of game that they killed during the past season which closed on December 15th. The report should be sent in at once in order that the game wardens may make their reports to the state game commission.

Final account of executors in the estate of the late Lettie B. Finmer has been confirmed by the court. The account shows total assets of $3,354.35; total credits of $2,608.85. Balance due estate, $745.50. This was ordered distributed to Frances Adamson, Vaughn Whybrew, Ruth Nicodemus and Alpha Perrott.

Dan Cupid fell down at the marriage license bureau this year but it wasn't Dan's fault. Records at the office of Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell show that 1,835 licenses were issued in 1935 compared to 2,197 in 1934.

The falling off of licenses was due to Pennsylvania's new marriage license law requiring a three day wait from the time of application until the license was granted. Up until the time this law was passed

Some school boards of the state are said to be becoming infected with the virus of the "spoils system." In Scranton some forty employees were dismissed at a meeting of the school board, dominated by a Democratic majority. The personnel of the maintenance and custodian departments was largely wiped out by the drastic shakeup, and the places filled promptly on a "patronage" basis. The Democratic majority on the board, headed by James W. Flanagan, president, is the first Democratic group in control of the board since 1911. According to Flanagan the wholesale shakeup was made "for the good of the service." It isn't hard for a group in power to find something wrong with the service when they want to fire anybody.

Business wasn't so good in the register and recorder
